Shamrocks and smiles in store at the Luck of the Irish Festival this St Patrick's Day

For all of those who have ever wanted a true taste of Irish tradition, a pot of leprechaun's gold at the end of the rainbow is now in reach at Emperors Palace this St Patrick's Day. The Luck of the Irish Festival, running from Friday the 14th until Sunday the 16th of March 2014, is a joyful celebration of Irish culture and tradition, with feasting, drinking, songs and entertainment in 50 shades of glorious green.

The Luck of the Irish will be filled with traditional and authentic St Patrick's Day festivities, from Irish dancing and singing to plenty of St Paddy's favourite food and drinks. The Festival is set to bring the Irish spirit of welcoming hospitality and good cheer to Jozi-goers in the biggest St Patrick's Day festival SA has ever seen. So whether your name is Murphy or O'Malley, van der Merwe, Tshabalala or Smythe, dig out your finest green gear and raise a mug o' green beer. There will be non-stop entertainment including incredible daredevil fire dancers, and plenty of people are sure to end up dancing a jig late into the night with the Blarney Brothers.

The Festival is open to all would-be revelers over the age of 18. Tickets to the Festival are R100, but those who book presale tickets will receive the additional benefit of one complimentary drink and discounted coupons coupon. So book your tickets now and join us in commemorating St Patrick, to enjoy the first of what is set to become a much-anticipated annual event on the South African calendar.
